Pekin, Sept. 12.—Pekin was placed under what amounts to martial law today by an order extending the powers of the gendarmerie.

Sixty thousand troops were in readiness to repel invasion from the north.

Chang Tsao Lin is mobilizing his full force and has started from Manchuria, explaining as he advances that this is merely a customary "autumn maneuver." The Pekin government, headed by President Tsao Kuo and supported by the alliance with Wu Pei Fu and Chi Hsieh Yuan has announced its unalterable opposition to any intervention by the powers. It will stand or fall on the present unification policy.

BAD WEATHER HALTS
THE RIVAL ARMIES

Shanghai, Sept. 12.—Rival armies deadlocked before Shanghai still were prevented by miry conditions under foot from renewing their conflict today. General Lu Yung Hsiang visited his front and made speeches to cheer up the troops.

NANKING RAILROAD
THREATENED BY FORCE

Shanghai, Sept. 12.—The most important victory to date in the Kiang Su province was claimed today by General Lu Yung Hsiang who announced his troops had captured Irsing, near Lake Taiho, and were advancing upon Chang Chow.

This move threatens to cut the line of communications serving the army of General Chi Hsieh Yuan, Chi Li leader who is attacking Lu before Shanghai.

Nanking, whence Chi started his march upon Shanghai, is unprotected if Lu's army has really succeeded in turning the Chi Li left flank. The Nanking railroad is also threatened. There are many American and foreign missionaries at Nanking and American destroyers went up the river to protect them in the event Lu's army captures the city.

HSIANG'S SECOND
ARMY ADVANCING

London, Sept. 12.—General Lu Yung Hsiang's second army has advanced a total of 30 miles in the last four days in its march north, the Central News Shanghai correspondent said today, capturing Irsing and three strongholds on Taiho Lake. This information came from Lu's military headquarters at Shanghai.

Injunction Is Asked
Against "Ma" Ferguson

Austin, Tex., Sept. 12.—An appeal for an injunction to keep the name of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, Democratic nominee for governor, off the official ballot in the general election, is on file in the 53d district court today.

The petition, which charges that Mrs. Ferguson would be, if elected, "a figurehead, or governor in name only," and that a woman was not authorized by the state statutes to hold the office of governor, was filed by Charles M. Dickinson of San Antonio.

A hearing to make the ruling temporary is asked for Monday.

GASOLINE RAISED

TWIN CITIES TODAY

St. Paul, Sept. 12.—Gasoline prices were raised two-tenths of a cent a gallon in most filling stations in the Twin Cities today.

The increase was announced by the Standard Oil company and most of the other companies followed suit, bringing the price of low test gasoline here to 16.2 cents a gallon.

State and federal forestry officials were tapping every available source for fire fighters.

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Sept. 12.—Prominent leaders of the democratic party and the third party movement have been invited by the local committee to review the American Legion parade on Tuesday, as well as General Charles G. Dawes, it was made known today.

Answering criticism which followed General Dawes' acceptance, Judge Royal A. Stone, chairman of the local arrangements committee, today announced that Charles W. Bryan, Burton K. Wheeler, Senators Magnus Johnson and Henrik Shipstead and Carlos Avery, democratic candidate for governor of Minnesota, as well as Theodore Christianson, republican nominee for governor, were among those who had been invited to review the parade.

The American Legion had nothing to do with extending the invitations, which were sent by the local civilian committee, Judge Stone pointed out. The Legion has nothing to do with politics, he said.

Of those invited, Judge Stone said, only General Dawes is a member of the Legion, and he is the only one who can take his place in the line of "buddies" attending the convention.

Minneapolis, Sept. 12.—The Minneapolis police gun squad captured three men in the night as they were holding up Clarence Hoyt in Minneapolis.

The three men had walked up behind Mr. Hoyt at Hennepin Ave. near Washington Ave. and clubbed him over the head with a revolver butt.

The gun squad came by just at this moment and after a short pursuit arrested the three men.

They had broken the butt off the gun when they hit Hoyt, but he is not in serious condition, it was said at Minneapolis general hospital this morning.

The three men gave their names as Manuel Stevens, Joe O'Keefe and Vincent Analof. The first two are said to be wanted by the federal authorities.

Washington, Sept. 12.—General John J. Pershing locks up his desk in the War Department tonight, after the Defense Test returns are in, and officially ends the greatest career in American military history for several generations.

Sixty-four years old, today upstanding and apparently in the prime of life, inept army regulations which fix that age as the end of a man's active usefulness have crowded him into retirement.

"He'll leave a mighty big hole around here when he goes," said the old non-com at the War Department. When Pershing looks at you out of his steady blue eyes, you just naturally straighten up. Personality plus—a leader whom men follow instinctively! There is tremendous fire and vigor in the man. He radiates will-power. His self-possession and poise are contagious.

Interested in Men
"Black Jack" is interested in men, rather than ideas. Coupled with this interest in people is a native instinct for ordering their lives, for governing. Order is a passion with him. Wherever he has gone, whatever he has done, he has gravitated to the tasks of organization. In his early days as military instructor at the University of Nebraska, again in the Cuban campaign, as a provincial governor in the Philippines, in France, even in the post-war period—always he has stood out as a great administrator, one who brings order out of chaos.

Many men can tell others what to do. But Pershing can make them do it. The explanation? His rare combination of personal mastery and charm!

Was Not a Prodigy
There are more brilliant officers in the Army. He was no prodigy at West Point. In academic learning he is surpassed by others. As a tactician he does not rank with the great generals of history or with Foch, the French leader. Nor is he exceptionally daring. He has never done foolhardy stunts to convince others of his bravery. His shyness is alien to his nature. There is nothing reckless about him. He is steady—dependable in the sense that he has never failed when put to the test.

Fifteen years elapsed before he advanced from second lieutenant to captain. Then he vaulted seniority rules and jumped over his superior officers into the rank of brigadier general. As long as it was a question of routine service, Pershing was capable without the windowfront of superficial brilliance that secures advancement. But in each crisis he rose as a natural leader.

Discipline is the first word in his vocabulary. Training is the second. Preparedness rather than cleverness is his method.

Pershing's unusual achievement consists in being a severe disciplinarian.

ITALIAN SOCIALIST

(By United Press)
Rome, Sept. 12.—The first of the expected political murders growing out of the assassination of the socialist deputy, Giacomo Matteotti, occurred here today when a socialist named Corvi shot and killed the fascist deputy, Armando Casarini.

Corvi fired four shots at the fascist leader, who died shortly after in a hospital.

"Matteotti is avenged," Corvi shouted defiantly as he waved his pistol and awaited arrest. The murder caused tremendous excitement in Rome. Premier Mussolini immediately called a meeting of the cabinet and informed his colleagues of the murder, warning them of its grave possibilities. A number of measures to avoid reprisals by the fascist party and maintain public order were discussed.

FEW WEAPONS

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Sept. 12.—With the statement that the United States must "quit sleeping past the alarm clock bell," National Commander John R. Quinn of the American Legion today reported ready for business as lieutenant-colonel in the inspector general's department, California national guard.

"Year after year, almost century after century," declared Commander Quinn, "the United States has floundered along from emergency to emergency without military policy. Each time the crisis came she flew to arms, and found there were no arms."

"Each time it has resulted in the loss of precious lives, and it was due to the carelessness of adequate foresight. For such a nation as the United States to continue such a criminally careless policy was unbelievable."

"Yet until the world war was fought and the boys of America were forced to pay the toll of that careless policy it was kept up."

"Through the efforts of the American Legion this nation now has a policy. That policy is being subjected to the supreme test of its efficiency. The American Legion encourages it and is giving full co-operation. I hope that the rest of the people will remember 1918 so that future generations will not have to pay the penalty of national carelessness like those who now sleep in military cemeteries. It is time for the United States to stop sleeping past the alarm clock signal."

TWO SLAYERS

CONFINEMENTTODAY THEY WILL BE PHOTO-

GALLERYFINGER PRINTS AND BERTILLON
MEASUREMENTS WILL BE TAKEN

(By United Press)
State Penitentiary, Joliet, Ill., Sept. 12.—Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, "lifers," today were formally initiated into the colony of state prisoners.

Brought by automobile from Chicago, the youthful slayers of Robert Franks arrived at the prison shortly after dark last night and were placed in solitary confinement.

Today they will be photographed for the rogues' gallery and their finger prints and Bertillon measurements will be taken, and then the long, slick hair will be trimmed. Then they will be sent to bathe and given regular prison suits to replace the temporary ones issued them when they arrived.

After that, if Warden John L. Whitman is satisfied with their attitude they will be assigned to cells in the main cell blocks and put to work in one of the shops.

These formalities may be delayed until afternoon by "Defense Day" exercises at the prison. All of the prisoners will be present at these exercises.

Nathan and Richard seemed to undergo a change as they entered the prison. They lost the nonchalant attitude that made them the wonder of courtroom spectators. They tried to muster a cheery smile of goodbye to newspaper men who "covered" their lengthy murder hearing in Chicago and who followed them to Joliet, but the best they could do was a wan smile. They appeared almost frightened as though they were just coming to a realization of the meaning of Justice Caverly's sentence to life in prison.

A few moments after they entered the grim walls they were searched and supplied with suits of prison denim. Then they were led to solitary cells and shut off from the world.

Some time today Babe and Dicky will lose their identities and become numbers 9396 and 9395 respectively.

A tragedy involving the boys was narrowly averted during the fast ride from Chicago near Willow Springs about half way to Joliet, when the driver of the car carrying Richard, Nathan, Sheriff Hoffman and Wesley Westbrook, superintendent of the Chicago jail, sent the machine careening off the road and on to the interurban tracks to avoid smashing into another machine ahead. As the machine crashed on to the tracks an interurban car which had been shooting along at high speed shrieked a warning and came to a grinding halt a short distance away.

SLAYERS JOIN RANKS

State Penitentiary, Joliet, Ill., Sept. 12.—Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, scions of millionaire families, college graduates and super-intellectuals, today joined the denim-clad lines of the "living dead."

The boys who murdered Bobby Franks for a thrill were lined up with other murderers, with robbers and swindlers and marched from their solitary cells to the prison chapel to attend Defense Day exercises.

Their slick black hair clipped down to prison style and wearing the conventional prison garb, "Babe and Dicky" for a time were lost in the chapel. They finally were located sitting in the ninth row directly in the middle of the room with 1,100 other prisoners.

It took time for the youthful slayers to adjust themselves to their surroundings. For a while they sat

Tokio, Sept. 12.—Scores of Japanese sailors were drowned following a collision between two torpedo boats in the Yokosuka naval harbor at 7:30 a. m. today, according to first official reports. The torpedo boats were attached to the warship Magato and were returning to the ship with 200 sailors who had been spending the day at Yokosuka. They collided, and both sank off Togahana Point, practically all the sailors being drowned.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 12.—In a second sortie into enemy territory, Charles G. Dawes, republican vice-presidential candidate, characterized Senator Robert M. La Follette, head of the independent ticket, as the leader of a mob and a master demagogue.

In a speech here last night in the Milwaukee auditorium in which were hundreds of friends of the Wisconsin senator, Dawes flayed La Follette for his efforts to curb the powers of the supreme court. La Follette in this campaign represents the quintessence of demagogism, animated by the vicious purpose of undermining the constitutional foundation of this republic, Dawes cried.

closely huddled together, casting shy glances at their comrades.

Their faces were ashen gray. They trembled and shifted uneasily as other prisoners gave them the "once over."

But before the exercises were over the old nonchalance had returned. They whispered to each other as they had whispered in the courtroom when the hearing was on before Justice John R. Caverly. They "took their cues" from their comrades and laughed and clapped their hands at appropriate times as Chaplain Hamilton spoke.

Tears came to the eyes of Dicky when the prison choir arose on the platform and sang "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, the Boys are Marching."

Dicky leaned forward at the first notes of the old patriotic song: "In the prison cell I sit, thinking, mother dead, of you, and our bright and happy home so far away."

He nudged Babe, and the eyes of both were fixed on the singers. Then Dicky wiped his hand across his forehead and let it fall to his eyes and brushed away the tears as the singers, some of them negroes, continued:

"And the tears they fill my eyes,
"Spite of all that I can do.
"Comrades try to cheer me and be gay."

A moment later, however, the two boys looked at each other and broad smiles spread over their faces when the chorus was reached.

"Tramp, Tramp, the Boys are Marching,
"Cheer up, comrades, they will come."

Leopold and Loeb joined heartily in applauding the prison band, which played several martial airs—The Stars and Stripes Forever, Tenting on the Old Camp Grounds, and America.

(By United Press)
Washington, Sept. 12.—The nation today is testing the speed with which its manpower can be assembled for war.

In every city and hamlet throughout the land citizens will respond to the stimulating call for volunteers. Behind closed doors at the War Department, army generals sat around a table scanning reports pouring in from corps area commanders, feeling the military pulse of the country.

Defense Day, for which the army had been planning for months, both as a definite test of mobilization and as a tribute to its retiring head, General Pershing, is on.

By tonight the War Department expects to have found the answers to two questions:

1. Can the manpower of the nation be mobilized fully and quickly under the machinery perfected by the army since the World War?
2. Can a volunteer call produce the requisite number of soldiers for a first levy?

JUDGE BECHHOEFER RULES

Today's Decision Not Expected to Be
Final, as Appeals Will be Taken

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Sept. 12.—National banks in Minnesota must pay the personal profit tax on capital stock.

Judge Carl Bechoefer so ruled today in a decision of nationwide import in which the state is attempting to collect 1922 and 1921 taxes on the capital stock of the First National Bank.

Today's decision is not expected to be final, as appeals undoubtedly will be taken, but if it is sustained it will mean that Ramsey county will collect approximately $500,000 in taxes now due and other counties in the state will collect huge sums, and millions in taxes on national banks will continue to pour into the state coffers.

The action decided by Judge Bechoefer was for $321,450.80 plus interest. This sum must be paid to the state plus the cost of the suit. What the total amount of taxes involved throughout the country would be has not been estimated, but conditions the same as those in Minnesota prevail in many states.

Many banks refused to pay the tax at the same time that the First National refused, and with the successful conclusion of this action by the state they are expected to pay.

Two other St. Paul banks, the Wash National and the Twin City National, refused to pay the tax in 1922.

Uncollected taxes in Ramsey county now outstanding total at present about $500,000. A large share of the taxes which should have been paid to the state have not been received.

The amount that should have been due this year was $206,732.93. All three banks refused to pay. It is not anticipated, however, that they will pay, as appeals undoubtedly will be taken to the state and federal supreme courts.

State Penitentiary, Joliet, Ill., Sept. 12.—Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, "lifers," today were formally initiated into the colony of state prisoners.

Brought by automobile from Chicago, the youthful slayers of Robert Franks arrived at the prison shortly after dark last night and were placed in solitary confinement.

Today they will be photographed for the rogues' gallery and their finger prints and Bertillon measurements will be taken, and then the long, slick hair will be trimmed. Then they will be sent to bathe and given regular prison suits to replace the temporary ones issued them when they arrived.

After that, if Warden John L. Whitman is satisfied with their attitude they will be assigned to cells in the main cell blocks and put to work in one of the shops.

These formalities may be delayed until afternoon by "Defense Day" exercises at the prison. All of the prisoners will be present at these exercises.

Nathan and Richard seemed to undergo a change as they entered the prison. They lost the nonchalant attitude that made them the wonder of courtroom spectators. They tried to muster a cheery smile of goodbye to newspaper men who "covered" their lengthy murder hearing in Chicago and who followed them to Joliet, but the best they could do was a wan smile. They appeared almost frightened as though they were just coming to a realization of the meaning of Justice Caverly's sentence to life in prison.

A few moments after they entered the grim walls they were searched and supplied with suits of prison denim. Then they were led to solitary cells and shut off from the world.

Some time today Babe and Dicky will lose their identities and become numbers 9306 and 9305 respectively.

A tragedy involving the boys was narrowly averted during the fast ride from Chicago near Willow Springs about half way to Joliet, when the driver of the car carrying Richard, Nathan, Sheriff Hoffman and Wesley Westbrook, superintendent of the Chicago jail, sent the machine careening off the road and on to the interurban tracks to avoid smashing into another machine ahead. As the machine crashed on to the tracks an interurban car which had been shooting along at high speed shrieked a warning and came to a grinding halt a short distance away.

SLAYERS JOIN BANKS OF "LIVING DEAD"

State Penitentiary, Joliet, Ill., Sept. 12.—Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, scions of millionaire families, college graduates and super-intellectuals, today joined the denim-clad lines of the "living dead."

The boys who murdered Bobby Franks for a thrill were lined up with other murderers, with robbers and swindlers and marched from their solitary cells to the prison chapel to attend Defense Day exercises.

Their sleek black hair clipped down to prison style and wearing the conventional prison garb, "Babe and Dicky" for a time were lost in the chapel. They finally were located sitting in the ninth row directly in the middle of the room with 1,100 other prisoners.

It took time for the youthful slayers to adjust themselves to their surroundings. For a while they sat

BOATS COLLIDE

(By United Press)
Tokio, Sept. 12.—Scores of Japanese sailors were drowned following a collision between two torpedo boats in the Yokosuka naval harbor at 7:30 a. m. today, according to first official reports.

The torpedo boats were attached to the warship Nagato and were returning to the ship with 200 sailors who had been spending the day at Yokosuka. They collided, and both sank off Tobanahana Point, practically all the sailors being drowned.

(By United Press)
Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 12.—In a second sortie into enemy territory, Charles G. Dawes, republican vice-presidential candidate, characterized Senator Robert M. LaFollette, head of the independent ticket, as the leader of a mob and a master demagogue.

In a speech here last night in the Milwaukee auditorium in which were hundreds of friends of the Wisconsin senator, Dawes flayed LaFollette for his efforts to curb the powers of the supreme court. LaFollette in this campaign represents the quintessence of demagogism, animated by the vicious purpose of undermining the constitutional foundation of this republic, Dawes cried.

closely huddled together, casting shy glances at their comrades.

Their faces were ashen gray. They trembled and shifted uneasily as other prisoners gave them the "once over."

But before the exercises were over the old nonchalance had returned. They whispered to each other as they had whispered in the courtroom when the hearing was on before Justice John R. Caverly. They "took their cues" from their comrades and laughed and clapped their hands at appropriate times as Chaplain Hamilton spoke.

Tears came to the eyes of Dicky when the prison choir arose on the platform and sang "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, the Boys are Marching."

Dicky leaned forward at the first notes of the old patriotic song: "In the prison cell I sit, thinking, mother dear, of you, and our bright and happy home so far away."

He nudged Babe, and the eyes of both were fixed on the singers. Then Dicky wiped his hand across his forehead and let it fall to his eyes and brushed away the tears as the singers, some of them negroes, continued:

"And the tears they fill my eyes,
"Spite of all that I can do.

"Comrades try to cheer me and be gay."

A moment later, however, the two boys looked at each other and broad smiles spread over their faces when the chorus was reached.

"Tramp, Tramp, the Boys are Marching."

"Cheer up, comrades, they will come."

Leopold and Loeb joined heartily in applauding the prison band, which played several martial airs—The Stars and Stripes Forever, Tenting on the Old Camp Grounds, and America.

ENOUGH MEN FOR FIRST LEVY?

(By United Press)
Washington, Sept. 12.—The nation today is testing the speed with which its manpower can be assembled for war.

In every city and hamlet throughout the land citizens will respond to the stimulating call for volunteers.

Behind closed doors at the War Department, army generals sat around a table scanning reports pouring in from corps area commanders, feeling the military pulse of the country.

Defense Day, for which the army had been planning for months, both as a definite test of mobilization and as a tribute to its retiring head, General Pershing, is on.

By tonight the War Department expects to have found the answers to two questions:

1. Can the manpower of the nation be mobilized fully and quickly under the machinery perfected by the army since the World War?
2. Can a volunteer call produce the requisite number of soldiers for a first levy?

NEW RULING FOR NATIONAL BANKSSuch Banks in Minnesota Must Pay
Personal Profit Tax on Capital Stock

JUDGE BECHHOEFER RULES

Today's Decision Not Expected to Be
Final, as Appeals Will be Taken

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Sept. 12.—National banks in Minnesota must pay the personal profit tax on capital stock.

Judge Carl Bechoefer so ruled today in a decision of nationwide import in which the state is attempting to collect 1922 and 1921 taxes on the capital stock of the First National Bank.

Today's decision is not expected to be final, as appeals undoubtedly will be taken, but if it is sustained it will mean that Ramsey county will collect approximately $500,000 in taxes now due and other counties in the state will collect huge sums, and millions in taxes on national banks will continue to pour into the state coffers.

The action decided by Judge Bechoefer was for $321,450.80 plus interest. This sum must be paid to the state plus the cost of the suit. What the total amount of taxes involved throughout the country would be has not been estimated, but conditions the same as those in Minnesota prevail in many states.

Many banks refused to pay the tax at the same time that the First National refused, and with the successful conclusion of this action by the state they are expected to pay.

Two other St. Paul banks, the Wash National and the Twin City National, refused to pay the tax in 1922.

Uncollected taxes in Ramsey county now outstanding total at present about $500,000. A large share of the taxes which should have been paid to the state have not been received.

The amount that should have been due this year was $206,732.93. All three banks refused to pay. It is not anticipated, however, that they will pay, as appeals undoubtedly will be taken to the state and federal supreme courts.

A WOMAN'S HOSIERY is an accurate basis of judgment as to her fastidiousness and taste in clothes. The past season, hosiery has acquired a still greater importance, and more attention has been paid to it than ever before. This is because good taste has proclaimed colored hose a necessary part of the wardrobe, and more care must be taken in their selection. Women have learned to know Gordon Hosiery, and to appreciate the "value received" in the service and satisfaction they get from them.

If It's Pretty Hosiery You Want Murphy's Have Them

A WOMAN'S HOSIERY is an accurate basis of judgment as to her fastidiousness and taste in clothes. The past season, hosiery has acquired a still greater importance, and more attention has been paid to it than ever before. This is because good taste has proclaimed colored hose a necessary part of the wardrobe, and more care must be taken in their selection. Women have learned to know Gordon Hosiery, and to appreciate the "value received" in the service and satisfaction they get from them.

Special for Saturday—Silk Hose, all good shades, only 98c a pair.

GARDEN FLOWER SOCIETY MEETING

Crow Wing County Town and Country Garden Flower Society to Meet Sept. 17

AT CHAMBER COMMERCE ROOMS

All Members and Others Interested in Flowers Urged to be Present

A meeting is called by the Crow Wing County Town and Country Garden Flower Society on Wednesday, September 17, at the Brainerd Chamber of Commerce rooms at 2 P. M. All members and others who are interested in flowers are requested to be present.

Perhaps it is well at this time to state that the primary purpose of this organization is to encourage and stimulate the growing of more and better flowers in this county.

This organization is affiliated with the State Garden Flower society and by this connection all members of this society automatically become members of the State Horticultural society with all the advantages given by the latter.

The yearly membership fee for the county society is $1, a nominal sum when the advantages are considered by being a member of this society.

It is expected to have two principal flower shows during each year. The first show will feature iris and peony including any other flowers that may be in bloom at the time. A second show will be given later in the season featuring dahlias, gladioli and all other garden flowers.

The society will encourage the holding of local shows for exhibiting flowers at different points and all members are requested to contribute when possible.

The tentative plan is to have each town have its home town unit, and each township to likewise have its own unit. These different units to feature the growing of any flowers they desire for their particular unit or community.

When a unit has five paid up members they may name or select the director to represent their unit and the directors of the different units with the president, vice presidents and secretary are to be the governing body of the society.

It is hoped to have a good working unit in every city, town and township in the county and urge all flower lovers to attend the coming meeting to learn further what the aims and plans are.

At the present time the society is able to secure peony roots at a very low price by purchasing in large quantities and it is hoped that this opportunity will be taken advantage of by members. Brainerd alone expects to distribute 5,000 roots.

Four named peony roots may be secured for $1. This is less than half the price they could be purchased for as an individual. The four peonies are Festiva Maxima, Marie Lemonine, Felix Crouse and Edula Superba.

This selling campaign is being directed by Dr. R. A. Belse and orders from outside Brainerd should be sent to him at once, as the selling will be discontinued by the 20th.

PRISCILLA CIRCLE

Met at Home of Mrs. N. P. Olmsted, 30 Young People Including Teachers Being Present

The Priscilla Circle met on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. N. P. Olmsted, 411 Juniper street, there being about thirty young women present, including several new teachers in the city schools.

This was the annual meeting, and the following officers were elected for the coming year:

President—Miss Maybelle Grewcox.

Vice President—Miss Corna Stickney.

Secretary—Miss Dorothy Carmichael.

Treasurer—Mrs. Stanley Durham.

Following an extended business meeting, which included annual reports of officers and committees and plan for the coming year's work, a Bible pageant was produced by several of the young ladies, under the direction of Mrs. Olmsted.

The balance of the evening was spent socially, and closed with refreshments.

The next meeting of the circle will be held at the home of Miss Dorothy Carmichael on Thursday evening, September 25th.

DEFENSE DAY IN BRAINERD

Mobilization Headquarters at the Old Court House, Major Scheuer in Command

FLAGS DECORATE THE CITY

Recruiting First Order of Day, Followed by Parade in Which All Organizations Asked to Join

Brainerd is today observing National Defense Day, with mobilization headquarters at the old court house, where Major Charles H. Scheuer is in charge, recruiting Company B of the 44th Engineer Battalion and Troop No. 25 of the Remount Station No. 45.

Business men of the city are recognizing the day by displaying the American flags at the shops throughout the business district. These flags were purchased through the local post of the American Legion, and form a very striking decoration.

Recruiting began at the old court house, and continued for one hour. The parade, which completes the program of the day, is scheduled for shortly after five o'clock and from all indications will be a large demonstration. The American Legion will participate in this parade, together with all ex-service men, and all who are mobilized this afternoon.

Business men and local organizations are invited and urged to march in this parade, which will cover only the principal streets of the downtown district. Those organizations that have already accepted this invitation include the Rotary club, the Lions club and the Brainerd Elks lodge. The Elks of the range will march in Crosby and Ironton parades.

H. D. Hoffman, manager of the Northwestern Telephone Co., mobilized the repair and installation departments of the company with truck and equipment to make any emergency repairs or installations, so reporting to Major Scheuer at the old court house, and also installing telephone service. All lines had been taken out of the building when the county offices were removed to their new home.

The Chef says— For BETTER Soups and Chowders! KITCHEN BOUQUET

Made from fresh vegetables. Gives rich flavor, color and taste to all home cooking.

Onion Soup

1 tablespoon Kitchen Bouquet; 5 large onions; 1 tablespoon finely minced carrot; 3 tablespoons butter; 3 tablespoons flour; 3/4 pint boiling water; salt and pepper to taste; 3 bouillon cubes; 1/2 cup thin cream. Peel and parboil onions for 3 minutes, drain and chop fine, place in saucepan with carrot and butter and simmer 5 minutes. Add flour, stir and add boiling water, salt and pepper and cook slowly a half hour. Strain, add bouillon cubes and stir until dissolved. Add Kitchen Bouquet and cream. Place several pieces toast in tureen, pour over soup and serve at once.

Mock Terrapin Soup

Boil 1 1/2 pounds of calf's liver in salt water for half an hour; add small herbs; 6 grains of pepper; one teaspoonful cloves; a few slices of onion, carrot, etc. When the vegetables are done, take them out and mash by putting them through a colander. Make a Spanish sauce by frying bacon; put into the fat a little slice of onion, 6 peppers, two sprigs celery, one-half cup tomato and cook brown. Make a paste of one teaspoonful of salad oil, a yolk of hard boiled egg, dust of cayenne pepper, make into small balls; put these into Spanish sauce, then put the sauce into the soup. When they come to the top, skim them out. Add 1 teaspoonful Kitchen Bouquet. Put in the tureen a slice of lemon, and pour in the soup, then cut the calf's liver into small bits and add it.

Savory Chowder

1 teaspoonful Kitchen Bouquet; 1 qt. diced raw potatoes; 1/2 lb. chopped beef; 4 tablespoons butter; 1 cupful corn; 1 medium-sized onion, chopped fine; a small piece of red pepper; 1 1/2 cupfuls hot milk; 2 cupfuls hot water. Put butter, onion, meat and some of the potatoes in the saucepan and fry golden brown, then add hot water and the rest of the potatoes and pepper. Stew slowly till done, about 1 hour. If one uses green corn, score down the rows of kernels and scrape out the inside. Cook this in a little water separately, being careful not to scorch it. When the other mixture is done, add the hot milk, corn, Kitchen Bouquet and salt to taste. Let boil up once and serve hot with crackers.

TRAINEES' EXHIBIT AT LEGION MEET

J. I. Swedberg Will be in Charge of One at National American Legion Convention

FARM PRODUCTS SHOWN

Eight Training Centers, of Which Brainerd is One, Will Compete For Prizes

J. I. Swedberg, in charge of trainees of the Veterans Bureau in the Brainerd district, left on Friday morning for St. Paul, where he will be in charge of an exhibit for the trainees at the national American Legion convention.

This exhibit will consist of farm products, raised by the ex-service men in the Brainerd area, and will consist of grains, grasses, vegetables, fruits, potatoes and canned products. Mr. Swedberg feels that it is of an exceptionally fine quality and that it will be an exhibit that will prove a credit to this vicinity and an advertisement for agriculture in Crow Wing county.

Eight training centers, of which Brainerd district is one, will compete at the St. Paul exhibit, and prizes will be offered for the best products from these districts. In addition to the competition between training centers the individual trainees will also compete for prizes. There are about six-hundred trainees in the state, and it is expected that the interest will run high. Some forty men from the Brainerd area have entered with from one to ten exhibits each.

Pictures of the veterans' farms and views of various phases of the work will also be on display at the exhibit, which is to be placed in the old capitol building in St. Paul from September 15th to 19th inclusive. F. M. Karrahar, a local trainee, will assist Mr. Swedberg in making the exhibit.

The principal reason for putting on this exhibit is the fact that the Tenth district of the Veterans Bureau, which includes Minnesota, is the only one that has shown an advance in farming in actual practice among its trainees, and the display at the national Legion convention will demonstrate very clearly this fact to Legionnaires all over the country in attendance at the convention.

Mr. Swedberg states that the majority of the trainees in the vicinity of Brainerd are making exceptionally fine progress with their farms, and will have their land well under cultivation by the time that their training is completed. Some of these men have never had experience in farming before, but with the training of the Bureau are making successful agriculturalists.

One trainee, Claude Gardner, of Pequot, took $28 in prizes at the Crow Wing county fair and at the Pine River fair, on his white Leghorn and Wyandotte poultry.

SECOND WARD IN FLOWER CAMPAIGN

Large and Enthusiastic Gathering of Workers Aims to Meet the Quota

SPLENDID VALUES GIVEN

Roots to be Ordered as Orders Are Placed by Brainerd Residents

It is now the second ward that is at work to sell its quota of peony roots. A large and enthusiastic gathering of workers met yesterday to start to work to meet the quota for that ward.

The committee in charge of the selling report that after some have consulted their catalogs and found that not one of the four roots can be bought for less than 50c and that one root is sold for from $1.00 to $1.50 they express their appreciation of the offer which is being made.

It is also urged that if the committee fails to solicit that the order be placed at the nearest store taking orders. The roots will be ordered as they are placed by Brainerd residents.

Orders may be left at all downtown drug stores, at Turcotte Bros, Riverside Grocery, Willson Grocery, Richard Isle and Anderson Bros, in Northeast and at Oak Drug store and Johnson Bros in S. E. Brainerd.

Saturday and Sunday Will Feature Dare and Dare in Act and Moving Pictures

The New Park will present Dare and Dare, a high class vaudeville duo in comedy, songs and dances on Saturday and Sunday in conjunction with the special picture Mae Murray in "The French Doll" at regular prices.

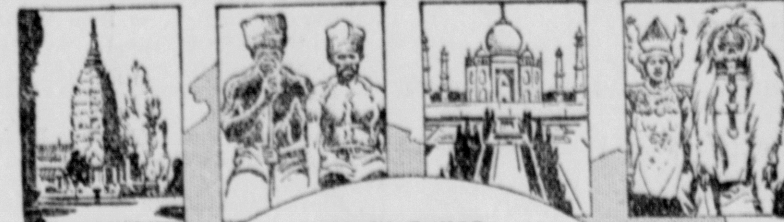

From all reports this is a very pleasing act and should go over well with the Brainerd audience. The New Park announces that they have booked acts for every Saturday and Sunday for some time. These acts will all be shown in conjunction with the big special picture at regular prices.

THE MOTORMORON

THE Duluth Herald speaks of the coining of a new word, "motormoron." It is applied to one who drives his car like an idiot. The easiest way to explain the meaning of a word is to give examples of its use and accordingly the Herald gives this list of motor driving delinquencies which stamp the breaker of traffic and common sense rules a motormoron:

The driver who dashes across a street intersection or out of or past a side road as though his were the only automobile in the world.

The driver who, on a narrow highway, races past the car in front of him without waiting to find out what may be coming from the opposite direction.

The driver who makes a square turn as though it were a straight road.

The driver who starts out from the curb without signalling.

The driver who goes at reckless speed.

The driver who cuts back to his side of the road too quickly after passing another car.

The driver who passes another car on the right.

The driver who approaches the top of a hill in the middle of the road.

The driver who depends too much on his brakes.

The driver with years of practice who takes delight in scaring the less experienced driver by seeing how close he can come to his car without hitting it.

The driver who makes a turn without signalling.

The road hog.

To which we might add:

The driver who passes another on a curve.

The driver who starts out before sizing up his gasoline, oil, brakes and general equipment.

The driver who tries to run around with last year's license plate.

The driver who disputes the right of way of a train.

The driver who lets his small children drive his car, and so on ad infinitum.

OUR NAVY'S TRADE SCHOOLS

OUR navy differs from the other fighting arms of the nation in that it requires more time to develop the fighting efficiency. In battle, the efficiency of a bluejacket may be in terms of knowledge of signaling, machinery, boilers, electricity, radio and many other forms of activity, which do not directly deal with guns or their control.

After hostilities begin it is hardly possible to fill efficiently their positions. This work must be done in peace in trade schools, using promising young bluejackets, practically raw material, for the majority of these as recruits were without the professional knowledge or experience required.

The primary mission of our navy's trade schools is to provide during time of peace trained personnel to fill the vacancies occurring on board ships of the fleet through trained men leaving the service. These latter men returned to civil life, where because of their efficient training they are in great demand. Their naval training is an asset to themselves, their families and their communities. They raise the mental, moral and physical standards, thereby yielding bountiful return for every dollar spent for their training.

At present but 2,000 men can be under instruction at trade schools at one time, which is not sufficient to fill vacancies occurring. It is therefore necessary to make up the deficiency by special instruction on board vessels of the fleet. This is greatly facilitated by the distribution to ships of correspondence courses covering general subjects and every naval rating which are gotten out by the training division, Bureau of Navigation.

The variety of trade schools in operation vary from year to year in accordance with the demands of the service. Efficiency in personnel is paramount if the United States will have our navy second to none as allowed by the naval treaty, which is necessary not as a balance of power but as a balance for peace.

LAND OF LAKES BUTTER

THE Minneapolis Tribune editorially calls attention to the fact that the 10,000 lakes, limpid streams and pure water everywhere in Minnesota, goes hand in hand with dairying; butter, cheese and milk production; and that the 10,000 lakes publicly is not only attracting the attention of tourists and vacationists and settlers, but is touching the imagination of milk, butter and cheese consumers everywhere.

Minnesota lakes, Minnesota butter are becoming world-famous. Minnesota now supplies the navy with butter. New markets are being opened everywhere and the demand exceeds the supply.

LIEUT. LOCATELLI, who fell by the wayside in attempting to fly with the American round-the-world aviators, during which time he was marooned on a rocky, ice-bound coast until picked up by a cruiser, has come to the conclusion that he will not essay any polar flights. Polar trips may look good on paper, but forced landings in a solid icepack far from home and gasoline filling stations and grocery stores is something to think about before attempting. A grave in an icepack would not assure one of even a decent obituary in the home paper.

PRESSURE of public opinion caused the Steel Corporation and others in the field to abolish the 12-hour workday. Now "Pittsburgh Plus," with its imaginary freight charge from Pittsburgh, is under fire. The Federal Trade Commission has decided that there is no justification for the "Plus" charge and has ordered that it be abandoned on the ground that it is unfair competition.

A SIEGE of torrential rains in China is sure to halt the civil war raging there. Like the Mexican revolutionists of the old days, the Chinese fight only in good weather.

STREPPING on gas, says the Pillager Herald, has become more dangerous than inhaling it.

OTHER PEOPLES' OPINIONS

Constantinople, Aug. 15.

To the Editor:

The plight of the Armenian refugees in and around Constantinople is pitiful in the extreme, notwithstanding some of the desperate conditions of the earlier days have been greatly mitigated. I visited several of the eight camps through the courtesy of the Near East Relief, and saw hundreds of the 15,000 men, women and children who seem to be suspended between heaven and hell so far as their future is concerned. In the meantime they are living under conditions that permit but a bare existence.

I saw families in little tepee tents, under the boiling sun, with hardly floor space sufficient to lie down. In a good-sized square room I found a family of three in each of the four corners of the room and ragged bedding. An old Armenian church was crowded full, every inch of floor and galleries being occupied by these patient, self-respecting, industrious and ambitious people. Deprived very largely of the opportunity to work, with no certainty as to what lies ahead of them, existing on a bare subsistence, it is amazing how they stand it and remain orderly and patient and hopeful.

The effort they make toward cleanliness in the midst of impossible conditions is pathetic. On that crowded church floor, with a family in every few square yards, there wasn't an unsanitary odor discernible.

I was much struck with the faces of the men and women, indicating strength, capacity and self-discipline. And many of the children were wonderfully attractive. That such people should suffer so much, for so long a time, through no fault of their own and with every desire and capacity to do for themselves, is a sad comment on our blundering humanity. Thank God for those in better circumstances whose hearts have been touched and who give generously to help keep these people alive until the way opens for their complete restoration. No American, whatever his racial antecedents, can look upon these scenes of poverty and humiliation and not respond to the call of his heart to lend a hand.

MARL FIELDS

State Owned Cement Plant Commission to Visit Marl Fields of Crow Wing County

TO SPEND WEDNESDAY HERE

Crow Wing County Has Large Explored Deposits and County Agent Will Show Them Beds

The state owned cement plant commission is to make a tour of inspection of the marl deposits in the Brainerd, St. Cloud, Foley and other districts next week, according to a letter just received by the Dispatch from Oscar Arneson, clerk of the commission.

The commission will arrive in Brainerd on Tuesday evening, by automobile, will make its night control here and on the following day visit the Crow Wing county marl fields, according to Mr. Arneson's letter.

County Agent E. G. Roth and County Highway Engineer Walter M. Murphy have been notified of this visit and will meet the commission and probably assist in escorting the visitors to the various deposits of marl. Both Mr. Roth and Mr. Murphy have been instrumental in discovering marl in this county and in putting it to practical use as fertilizer and for road surfacing purposes. Several deposits are considered of sufficient high quality for cement making purposes.

The state owned cement plant commission is made up of the following men: Michael Boylan, Virginia, chairman, Frank E. Nimocks, Minneapolis, vice chairman, C. M. Iverson, Ashby, secretary, Elias Nordgren, North Branch, and E. W. Cameron, Minneapolis. This commission visited Brainerd about two years ago and made a tour of inspection to a few of the local marl fields.

The letter explaining the tour next week follows:

The Commission will meet next Monday at the Chief Clerk's office at the state capital at noon.

The purpose of the meeting is to go over certain matters in regard to the exploration so far made as to lime stone in southern Minnesota.

Request has been made to look over the marl deposits in the St. Cloud, Foley, St. Joseph, Brainerd and other points in Crow Wing county. No report by the Commission will be complete without a report on both lime stone and marl, therefore the Chairman suggests that the Commission leave Monday afternoon for St. Cloud and remain there over night. This will give them an opportunity to visit the Marl fields the following day.

arian and at the same time popular. Though a stickler for discipline, only once in his varied career has this severity cost him the affection of those under him. That was an instructor at West Point. Even then the students respected his ability.

Always a Leader

From the beginning he has been a leader. As a boy in a frontier town, he led. As a student at West Point he was chosen ranking officer and class president, even though his academic record was only fair. His sophisticated Eastern classmates at the military academy followed the Missouri youth with the straight figure and dogged jaw.

Perhaps pioneer stock and early hardships explain his self-mastery, the key to his mastery over others. He was born on the Missouri frontier, a region of strife between abolitionists and slave-holders even before the Civil War. A shanty was the first home provided by his father, a section boss on the new railroad. After the panic of '73, John at 19 had to combine a man's work on the farm with attendance at school.

Pershing is the great organizer produced by the World War. He was a general without an army. It had to be created, equipped, trained. Even his staff had to be produced out of hand. No wonder the Allies thought the task impossible, that rather than attempt to build a separate American Army our soldiers should serve in scattered units as a part of the French and British armies under foreign commanders.

Pershing was dining with the king of England and receiving the ovations of Paris, but underneath was this conflict of ideas. The Allies under the pressure of battle were taking a short view. Pershing was looking ahead. He refused to be rushed. He told them they must hold the line another year—and cable Washington he must have a million men within a year and munitions and supplies for three million. He established headquarters at Chaumont and began his long preparation for the Meuse-Argonne campaign.

"Black Jack" opposed the idea of a supreme war council and demanded a supreme commander. When Fech took over in April, 1918, Pershing won two points: the American army was recognized equally with the French and British with its individual command under Fech. Only July 4 the A. E. F. took over the Chateau-Thierry region, and in August the First American Army became responsible for the St. Mihiel sector.

While the Allies accepted the war of-position tactics and trench fighting, Pershing prepared for a war-of-movement. They relied on the hand-grenade, he trained his men with the rifle. The allies hoped for a successful drive in the spring of 1919. He reported he was ready to risk the entire American forces in a quick and supreme drive to end the war before snow-fall. In the Argonne drive he made good his promise, cut the German line of retreat, and hastened the armistice.

Since the war and demobilization, he has worked to build up a comprehensive military establishment, including the National Guard and Reserve Corps. Defense Day is his doing. On the day when he hands over the command and steps out, the test for which he has been preparing since the war will be in operation. HEAVY RAINS RETARD ROAD WORK

St. Paul, Sept. 12.—Unfavorable weather is reflected in condition changes of a number of trunk highway sections from good to fair during the past few days particularly on the ungravelled roads and stretches of highway now under construction.

Heavy rains generally over the state have retarded construction operations and in many instances have caused bridge and culvert washouts necessitating temporary detours.

Conditions as reported for the 7,000-mile Trunk Highway System are as follows in today's bulletin, insofar as they refer to roads in the Brainerd lake region:

T. H. No. 2—Duluth, Brainerd, Atkin, Wadena, Detroit and Moorhead—260 miles—All good except over fair stretch from Motley through Staples and near detour east of Moorhead.

T. H. No. 18—Elk River, Milaca, Garrison and Brainerd—100 miles—All good.

T. H. No. 19—Brainerd, Walker and Cross Lake—45 miles—All good.

T. H. No. 27—St. Cloud, Little Falls and Brainerd—62 miles—Paved from St. Cloud through Little Falls and good on temporary route on to Brainerd.

KEEPING THEIR MAIDS CONTENT

"But where does your maid sleep?" That was the first question which an English friend put to me after she had looked round my new flat in a Paris suburb. I had told her that my bonne-a-tout-faire "lived in," but as we went round our little home she could find no evidences of a servant's bedroom.

"Cosette sleeps in the servant's flat as do all the other maids in the house. They are very happy on the top floor. When their work is done they do as they like. No one interferes with them. It is like a little club," I told her.

Rich Milk, Malted Grain ext. in powder form, makes The Food-Drink for All Ages. Digestible—No Cooking. A light Lunch always at hand. Also in Tablet form. Ask for "Horlick's," at all Fountains. Avoid Imitations—Substitutes.

My English visitor was much interested.

"I should like to see the plan adopted in England," she said. "Now that so many houses are being converted into flats it ought to be highly successful."

The method works admirably in Paris. Most Frenchwomen feel that in a small flat it is not suitable to have a maid always in the place. In most houses made up of flats, therefore, the top floor is composed of rooms allotted to the different flats. If no servant is kept the extra room is simply used for lumber or as a guest room, according to the wishes of the tenants.

But where madame has been able to find a capable maid she is glad to be able to offer her a comfortable room on the top floor. Once the maid has taken possession the mistress probably does not see it again until the maid leaves.

The advantages of this plan are many. It prevents loneliness among servants. With their bed-sitting rooms all on a common floor, well away from the atmosphere of work, they are able to enjoy a sense of freedom.

Although not governed by an unalterable rule, hours of work are roughly outlined so that the bonne knows when she may go out, retire to her room, meet her friends, and do what she likes.

The French mistress does not ask what her servant does when working hours are finished. She knows that her maid is well housed, well fed, well paid. The concierge, the tyrant nical friend of all flat-tenants, would report any indiscretion of too late hours.—Continental Edition of the London Mail.

5 Operations—15 years suffering with constipation—Kellogg's Bran restores health

Mr. Lanceling's case is typical of thousands of others. He found permanent relief from constipation in Kellogg's Bran because it is ALL Bran. Nothing but ALL Bran can be 100 per cent effective. Read what he says:

Dear Sir:

I have been afflicted with constipation for the past 15 years, and during that time I have been in four different hospitals and submitted to five different operations that were the result of constipation. I was getting so bad that every meal I ate soured on my stomach. Two months ago I was advised to eat your Kellogg's Bran. I tried it, as I was trying everything I could hear of. From that day on I have never taken a physic. My stomach does not sour any more and my bowels move regularly morning and evening. Yours sincerely, Frank Lanceling, 1306 Jefries Ave., Marion, Ind.

For permanent relief, eat Kellogg's Bran regularly. Two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. It is guaranteed to bring results, or your grocer will return your money.

You will like the delicious nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran—so different from ordinary bran, which are unpalatable. Eat Kellogg's Bran with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in the recipes given on the package.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is served by leading hotels and clubs in individual packages. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

A Romance of the Spanish Main

CAPTAIN BLOOD

By RAFAEL SABATINI

Copyrighted, 1922, by Rafael Sabatini.

"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitaphone picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

SYNOPSIS

Peter Blood, a young Irish physician, is arrested and charged with treason during the battle between Monmouth's rebels and the soldiers of King James. He is sentenced to death by Lord Jeffreys after a trial which is a mere travesty of justice. King James, however, orders the convicted rebels sent to the colonies to be sold as slaves, and Blood and Jeremy Pitt are put into the detachment consigned to the Barbadoes. There, when they are inspected by would-be purchasers, Arabella Bishop, niece of Colonel Bishop, the military commander, draws her uncle's attention to Blood. Upon learning that Blood is a physician, Bishop buys him for ten pounds. Later Arabella and Blood meet, but Blood's bitterness at his ignoble position leads him to misunderstanding the character of the girl. An English ship brings in wounded Spanish prisoners and while treating their wounds Blood learns of Arabella's true charity. A few days later a Spanish galleon slips into port under false colors and opens fire on the fort.

With the crashing roar of that second broadside, Colonel Bishop went off at the double, despite his bulk and the heat, his negroes trotting after him.

And then into the stockade, panting and sweating, came Kent followed by the best part of a score of plantation workers, armed with muskets and hangars and some of them equipped with bandoleers. By this time the rebels-convict were coming, in, in twos and threes, having abandoned their work upon finding themselves unguarded and upon scenting the general dismay.

Kent paused to fling an order to those slaves.

"To the woods!" he bade them. "Take to the woods, and lie close there until this is over, and we've gutted these Spanish swine."

The slaves would have obeyed him on the instant but for Mr. Blood.

"What need for haste, and in this heat?" quoth he. He was surprisingly cool, they thought. "Maybe there'll be no need to take to the woods at all, and, anyway, it will be time enough to do so when the Spaniards are masters of the town."

The landing was contested by the militia and by every islander capable of bearing arms with the fierce resolution of men who know that no quarter was to be expected in defeat. This Spanish commander knew his business. Having gained the advantage of a surprise blow, his guns turned now upon the open space behind the mole, where the incompetent Bishop had marshalled his men, tore the militia into bloody rags and covered the landing parties which were making the shore in their own boats.

By sunset two hundred and fifty Spaniards were masters of Bridgetown, the islanders were disarmed, and at Government House, Governor Steed, supported by Colonel Bishop and some lesser officers, was being informed by Don Diego, of the sum that would be required in ransom. For a hundred thousand pieces of eight and fifty head of cattle, Don Diego would forbear from reducing the place to ashes. And what time that suave and courtly commander was settling these details with the apoplectic British Governor, the Spaniards were smashing and looting, feasting, drinking, and ravaging after the hideous manner of their kind.

Mr. Blood, greatly daring, ventured down at dusk into the town. What he saw was fetching him in haste and white-faced out of that hell again, when in a narrow street a girl hurtled into him, wild-eyed, her unbound hair streaming behind her as she ran. After her, laughing and cursing in a breath, came a heavy-booted Spaniard. Almost he was upon her, when suddenly Mr. Blood got in his way. The doctor had taken a sword from a dead man's side some little time before and armed himself with it against an emergency.

As the Spaniard checked in anger and surprise, he caught in the dusk the livid gleam of that sword which Mr. Blood had quickly unsheathed.

"Ah, perro ingles!" he shouted, and flung forward to his death.

"It's hoping I am ye're in a fit state to meet your Maker," said Mr. Blood, and ran him through the body. He did the thing skillfully, with the combined skill of swordsman and surgeon. The man sank in a hideous heap without so much as a groan.

Mr. Blood swung to the girl, who leaned panting and sobbing against a wall. He caught her by the wrist. They sped down an alley, and white-faced, physically sick, Mr.

Blood dragged her almost at a run up the hill towards Colonel Bishop's house. He knocked, but had to knock again and yet again before he was answered.

"Who is there?" The voice was Miss Bishop's, a little tremulous, but unmistakably her own.

"It is I—Peter Blood," he gasped. "What do you want?"

At the sound of her voice, the girl Mr. Blood had rescued peered up through the gloom.

"Arabella!" she called. "It is I, Mary Traill."

After a brief pause the door opened wide. Mr. Blood strode in followed by his distraught companion, who, falling upon Arabella's slender bosom, surrendered herself to a passion of tears.

"Whom have you here with you? What servants?" he demanded sharply. The only male was James, an old negro groom.

"The very man," said Blood. "Bid him get out the horses. Then away with you to Speightstown, or even farther north, where you will be safe. Here you are in danger—in dreadful danger. The devilry's only beginning. In God's name, madam, take my word for it, and do as I bid you."

"He... he saved me," sobbed Miss Traill.

"Let that wait," snapped Mr. Blood almost angrily. "Will you please call James, and do as I say—and at once!"

"You are very peremptory..."

"Yes, yes," the girl cried, shuddering. "Do as he says—Oh, for pity's sake, Arabella."

The horses came at last—four of them, for in addition to James who was to act as her guide, Miss Bishop had her woman, who was not to be left behind.

Mr. Blood lifted the slight weight of Mary Traill to her horse, then turned to say good-bye to Miss Bishop, who was already mounted. He said it, and seemed to do have something to add. But whatever it was it remained unspoken. He went off briskly in the direction of the stockade, where his fellow-slaves awaited him in deep anxiety and some hope.

THE REBELS-CONVICT

There were, when the purple gloom of the tropical night descended upon the Caribbean, not more than ten men on guard aboard the Cinco Llagas so confident were the Spaniards of the complete subjection of the islanders. As a matter of fact, whilst the main body of the Spaniards feasted and rioted ashore, the Spanish gunner and his crew were feasting on the gun-deck upon the wine and the fresh meats fetched out to them from ashore. When I was a girl, my rich mother took me on a world search for the supreme beauty helps. Those helps made me famous. Since then I have kept in touch with every new discovery. I have made many trips to France. So what I was and what I am are due to scientific help. Now women have convinced me that I should share these helps with others. Millions of girls and women want what I have gained. So I have combined all the helps I have discovered in four preparations, with 52 ingredients. And I have arranged so that all druggists and toilet counters offer them to all who wish.

One is a liquid cleanser which I call my Facial Youth. Lucie Lantheim, the famous Parisian beauty, first told me what it did. Now great beauty experts the world over are advising this formula. No other cleanser which man has discovered does what this cleanser does.

My Facial Youth contains no animal, no vegetable fat. It cannot in any way assimilate with the skin. It simply cleans to the depths, then departs. All the grime, dead skin and clogging matter comes out with it.

This is the first beauty essential—an utterly clean skin. But I never dreamed what a clean skin meant until I found this Facial Youth.

Now Edna Wallace Hopper's Facial Youth is supplied by all druggists and toilet counters. The cost is 75c.

Write me for my Beauty Book and I'll send with it something else to please you. Edna Wallace Hopper, 536 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago.

sentinels only kept vigil, at stem and stern. Nor were they as vigilant as they should have been, or else they must have observed the two wherries that under cover of the darkness came gliding from the wharf, with well-greased rowlocks, to bring up in silence under the great ship's quarter.

From the gallery aft still hung the ladder by which Don Diego had descended to the boat that had taken him ashore. The sentry on guard in the stern, coming presently round this gallery, was suddenly confronted by the black shadow of a man standing before him at the head of the ladder. It was Peter Blood.

The wooden taffan was a low one, and the Spaniard was taken completely by surprise. Save for the splash he made as he struck the water, narrowly missing one of the crowded boats that waited under the counter, not a sound announced his misadventure. Armed as he was with corselet, culsarts, and headpiece, he sank to trouble them no more. Within five minutes they had swarmed board, the entire twenty of them overflowing from the narrow gallery and crouching on the quarter-deck itself.

A Romance of the Spanish Main

CAPTAIN BLOOD

by RAFAEL SABATINI

Copyrighted, 1922, by Rafael Sabatini.

"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitaphone picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

SYNOPSIS

Peter Blood, a young Irish physician, is arrested and charged with treason during the battle between Monmouth's rebels and the soldiers of King James. He is sentenced to death by Lord Jeffreys after a trial which is a mere travesty of justice. King James, however, orders the convicted rebels sent to the colonies to be sold as slaves, and Blood and Jeremy Pitt are put into the detachment consigned to the Barbadoes. There, when they are inspected by would-be purchasers, Arabella Bishop, niece of Colonel Bishop, the military commander, draws her uncle's attention to Blood. Upon learning that Blood is a physician, Bishop buys him for ten pounds. Later Arabella and Blood meet, but Blood's bitterness at his ignoble position leads him to misunderstanding the character of the girl. An English ship brings in wounded Spanish prisoners and while treating their wounds Blood learns of Arabella's true charity. A few days later a Spanish galleon slips into port under false colors and opens fire on the fort.

With the crashing roar of that second broadside, Colonel Bishop went off at the double, despite his bulk and the heat, his negroes trotting after him.

And then into the stockade, panting and sweating, came Kent followed by the best part of a score of plantation workers, armed with muskets and hangars and some of them equipped with bandoleers. By this time the rebels-convict were coming in, in twos and threes, having abandoned their work upon finding themselves unguarded and upon scenting the general dismay.

Kent paused to fling an order to those slaves.

"To the woods!" he bade them. "Take to the woods, and lie close there until this is over, and we've gutted these Spanish swine."

The slaves would have obeyed him on the instant but for Mr. Blood.

"What need for haste, and in this heat?" quoth he. He was surprisingly cool, they thought. "Maybe there'll be no need to take to the woods at all, and, anyway, it will be time enough to do so when the Spaniards are masters of the town."

The landing was contested by the militia and by every islander capable of bearing arms with the fierce resoluteness of men who know that no quarter was to be expected in defeat. This Spanish commander knew his business. Having gained the advantage of a surprise blow, his guns turned now upon the open space behind the mole, where the incompetent Bishop had marshalled his men, tore the militia into bloody rags and covered the landing parties which were making the shore in their own boats.

By sunset two hundred and fifty Spaniards were masters of Bridgetown, the islanders were disarmed, and at Government House, Governor Steed, supported by Colonel Bishop and some lesser officers, was being informed by Don Diego, of the sum that would be required in ransom. For a hundred thousand pieces of eight and fifty head of cattle, Don Diego would forbear from reducing the place to ashes. And what time that suave and courtly commander was settling these details with the apoplectic British Governor, the Spaniards were smashing and looting, feasting, drinking, and ravaging after the hideous manner of their kind.

Mr. Blood, greatly daring, ventured down at dusk into the town. What he saw was fetching him in haste and white-faced out of that hell again, when in a narrow street a girl hurtled into him, wild-eyed, her unbound hair streaming behind her as she ran. After her, laughing and cursing in a breath, came a heavy-booted Spaniard. Almost he was upon her, when suddenly Mr. Blood got in his way. The doctor had taken a sword from a dead man's side some little time before and armed himself with it against an emergency.

As the Spaniard checked in anger and surprise, he caught in the dusk the livid gleam of that sword which Mr. Blood had quickly unsheathed. "Ah, perro ingles!" he shouted, and flung forward to his death.

"It's hopping I am ye're in a fit state to meet your Maker," said Mr. Blood, and ran him through the body. He did the thing skillfully; with the combined skill of swordsmen and surgeon. The man sank in a hideous heap without so much as a groan.

Mr. Blood swung to the girl, who leaned panting and sobbing against a wall. He caught her by the wrist. They sped down an alley, and white-faced, physically sick, Mr.

Blood dragged her almost at a run up the hill towards Colonel Bishop's house. He knocked, but had to knock again and yet again before he was answered.

"Who is there?" The voice was Miss Bishop's, a little tremulous, but unmistakably her own.

"It is I—Peter Blood," he gasped.

"What do you want?"

At the sound of her voice, the girl Mr. Blood had rescued peered up through the gloom.

"Arabella!" she called. "It is I, Mary Traill."

After a brief pause the door gaped wide. Mr. Blood strode in followed by his distraught companion, who, falling upon Arabella's slender bosom, surrendered herself to a passion of tears.

"Whom have you here with you? What servants?" he demanded sharply. The only male was James, an old negro groom.

"The very man," said Blood. "Bid him get out the horses. Then away with you to Speightstown, or even farther north, where you will be safe. Here you are in danger—in dreadful danger. The devilry's only beginning. In God's name, madam, take my word for it, and do as I bid you."

"He... he saved me," sobbed Miss Traill.

"Let that wait," snapped Mr. Blood almost angrily. "Will you please call James, and do as I say—and at once!"

"You are very peremptory..."

"Yes, yes," the girl cried, shuddering. "Do as he says—Oh, for pity's sakes, Arabella."

The horses came at last—four of them, for in addition to James who was to act as her guide, Miss Bishop had her woman, who was not to be left behind.

Mr. Blood lifted the slight weight of Mary Traill to her horse, then turned to say good-bye to Miss Bishop, who was already mounted. He said it, and seemed to have something to add. But whatever it was it remained unspoken. He went off briskly in the direction of the stockade, where his fellow-slaves awaited him in deep anxiety and some hope.

REPAIR WORK AT THE SCHOOLS

Committee on Buildings, Grounds
and Janitors Makes Its Report

PROGRESS GIVEN IN DETAIL

High School Boilers Overhauled, Gas
Equipment is Repaired

The committee on buildings, grounds and janitors of the Brainerd board of education, offered the following report covering repair work, cleaning, decorating and other items done previous to the opening of school, a report which will be of interest to all Dispatch readers.

Washington building: Reshingling of this building is progressing. When completed it will add greatly to the outside appearance of this building. Contractor McCaffrey has completed his painting contract in this building and the work is very satisfactory. He has also been given extra work, such as painting the floors in the normal room, the science room a strip in the hallway on the first floor and in the boys toilet room in the basement.

Harry Belmuth has completed the plumbing work around the boilers and repaired the Matthews gas equipment. The work in connection with the boilers has run into money, but these boilers have not had a general overhauling in many years and besides it must be realized that this piece of equipment is getting old and possibly if it were not for the good care it has had, it would have been completely worn out before this.

A few minor repairs are still to be made around this building, such as placing of door and cupboard locks, and putting in a floor in the attic of the old part of the building, which work has been authorized by the board.

Lincoln building: Contractor White has completed his work at this building, with the exception of placing slate in the folding doors of the auditorium. Some extra work has been done such as patching of floors, wainscoting from the first landing down to the boys toilet, with material removed from the rooms where the auditorium was placed. The painter is at work painting the walls and floor in the basement room. A little work remains to be done on the roof of this building.

Whittier building: Most of the repair and decorating work done this summer has been done here. Contractor White has completed his work with the exception of placing the slate in the folding doors of the auditorium. A considerable amount of work, outside his contract, has been done at this building, and includes tearing out of the old janitor's quarters and remodeling them for a coal bin, providing a coal slide to the boiler pit, an outside entrance to this pit, lathing and plastering all exposed ceilings in the boiler room, with asbestos plaster directly over the boiler.

The class room in the basement of this building is completed with the exception of light fixtures and curtains for the windows, which have been ordered. Fire boxes for the boilers have been relined, a necessity, it was found after inspection. Outside foundations have been pointed up and the front steps repaired.

Lowell building: Contractor McCaffrey has completed redecorating the upper floor of this building. The ceiling in the basement in the west part of the building has been lathed and plastered and the front stone wall plastered. The fire boxes for the boilers have been relined and down spouts repaired.

Garfield building: Cement bases have been provided at the bottom of the down spouts. The committee concentrated its efforts toward trying to ascertain the trouble in connection with the ventilation and the smoking of furnaces. In this it is hoped that the committee has been successful. About seventy-five dollars worth of fire brick that was removed from the furnaces some two years ago, was hauled to the Washington building and placed in the fire boxes there.

Harrison building: At this building the down spouts have been repaired together with cement bases at the bottom of the spouts. A cement walk was put in along the west side of the building for a distance of ten feet. The committee finds that considerable tampering is done to school property, and unless this practice ceases some steps must be taken to stop it.

Riverside building: At this building some repairs have been made to the furnace in the new part of the building, in getting more heat in the kitchen of the special class room. The hot air run has been enlarged and the take-off from the furnace changed.

Recommendations: It is recommended by the committee that Contractor White be allowed the sum of $500 on his contract.

Light fixtures: The committee solicited bids to furnish the board with 35 Ivanhoe Trojan units, furnished complete with the exception of the lamps, and installed. From the bids attached it was noted that the Taylor Sales Service was the lowest bidder and the contract was awarded to this company.

From information obtainable, it seems barely possible that there will be any sewerage construction in West Brainerd in the near future, and the committee would suggest that a six-inch sewer line be laid by the board from the school building to the river, a distance of about 500 feet, and that this line be for the use of the school district only.

Water mains run by the west side of the building. All roughing-in for toilet fixtures was installed at the time of the construction of the addition to the building, therefore if the matter of sewerage can be taken care of, toilet facilities can be provided in a very short time for the Riverside building.

The charter commission of the city of Brainerd met on Thursday evening at the city hall for the purpose of making certain recommendations for amendments to the city charter, as requested by the city council. Nine of the commissioners were present out of the fourteen members, being A. J. Halsted, president, Henry Krause, secretary, Andrew Anderson, F. M. Hagberg, George D. LaBar, A. G. Anderson, S. H. Wooden, Swan Johnson, and Fred Drexler.

The commission at its Thursday night meeting approved the following proposed amendments to the city charter, and these amendments will be voted upon at the general election in November:

"That Chapter 3, of the charter of the city of Brainerd, entitled 'Finances,' Section 54, No. 9, be amended by striking from the third sentence thereof the words, provided, that the issuable aggregate of such certificates of indebtedness shall at no time exceed the sum of money then in the permanent improvement revolving fund under the provisions of section 57 of the city charter, as herewith amended, together with the additional amount of bonds that may or can be issued thereunder, added to the total of cash payments guaranteed by bonds of owners of real property abutting on such or similar street or alley improvements."

"That Section 94, of Chapter 6, of the charter of the city of Brainerd be amended by adding thereto the following: And said city shall be absolutely exempt from liability to any person for damages or injuries suffered or sustained by reason of defective streets or sidewalks within said city unless actual notice in writing of such defects in said streets or sidewalks shall have been filed with the city clerk within at least ten days before the occurrence of such injury or damage. In the not be liable for any injury or damages on account of such defects, and in all cases such notice shall describe with particularity the place and nature of the defects of which complaint is made."

The Brainerd ward committee of the Crow Wing County Tax Reduction League submitted an amendment, asking that citizens be allowed to vote on the employment of the city and school nurse. The communication was accepted and placed on file.

The Creator Permits Woman To Select Her Own Garb

She is given the privilege of being distinctive. She studies herself and then wears those garments which give her individuality. She doesn't want anything just like other women are wearing. In this she reveals her character. In this "man" differs from all creatures.

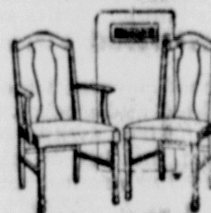

We know just how discriminating women are and we have selected the garments we have to offer to meet the many tastes that there are.

There is a pretty garment with luxurious material and soft fur which wraps about the wearer so tidily and has every appearance of grace and comfort; then here is one for the one who wishes a more tailored garment, and here is another for the little woman who is critical about what the style of the garment has to do with height. And so they go. These coats are here for no other purpose than for women to see them and we heartily invite all women to come in.

REPAIR WORK AT THE SCHOOLS

Committee on Buildings, Grounds
and Janitors Makes Its Report

PROGRESS GIVEN IN DETAIL

High School Boilers Overhauled, Gas

The committee on buildings, grounds and janitors of the Brainerd board of education, offered the following report covering repair work, cleaning, decorating and other items done previous to the opening of school, a report which will be of interest to all Dispatch readers.

Washington building: Reshaping of this building is progressing. When completed it will add greatly to the outside appearance of this building. Contractor McCaffrey has completed his painting contract in this building and the work is very satisfactory. He has also been given extra work, such as painting the floors in the normal room, the science room a strip in the hallway on the first floor and in the boys toilet room in the basement.

Harry Belmuth has completed the plumbing work around the boilers and repaired the Matthews gas equipment. The work in connection with the boilers has run into money, but these boilers have not had a general overhauling in many years and besides it must be realized that this piece of equipment is getting old and possibly if it were not for the good care it has had, it would have been completely worn out before this.

A few minor repairs are still to be made around this building, such as placing of door and cupboard locks, and putting in a floor in the attic of the old part of the building, which work has been authorized by the board.

Lincoln building: Contractor White has completed his work at this building, with the exception of placing slate in the folding doors of the auditorium. Some extra work has been done such as patching of floors, wainscoting from the first landing down to the boys toilet, with material removed from the rooms where the auditorium was placed. The painter is at work painting the walls and floor in the basement room. A little work remains to be done on the roof of this building.

Whittier building: Most of the repair and decorating work done this summer has been done here. Contractor White has completed his work with the exception of placing the slate in the folding doors of the auditorium. A considerable amount of work, outside his contract, has been done at this building, and includes tearing out of the old janitor's quarters and remodeling them for a coal bin, providing a coal slide to the boiler pit, an outside entrance to this pit, lathing and plastering all exposed ceilings in the boiler room, with asbestos plaster directly over the boiler.

The class room in the basement of this building is completed with the exception of light fixtures and curtains for the windows, which have been ordered. Fire boxes for the boilers have been relined, a necessity, it was found after inspection. Outside foundations have been pointed up and the front steps repaired.

Lowell building: Contractor McCaffrey has completed redecorating the upper floor of this building. The ceiling in the basement in the west part of the building has been lathed and plastered and the front stone wall plastered. The fire boxes for the boilers have been relined and down spouts repaired.

Garfield building: Cement bases have been provided at the bottom of the down spouts. The committee concentrated its efforts toward trying to ascertain the trouble in connection with the ventilation and the smoking of furnaces. In this it is hoped that the committee has been successful. About seventy-five dollars worth of fire brick that was removed from the furnaces some two years ago, was hauled to the Washington building and placed in the fire boxes there.

Harrison building: At this building the down spouts have been repaired together with cement bases at the bottom of the spouts. A cement walk was put in along the west side of the building for a distance of ten feet. The committee finds that considerable tampering is done to school property, and unless this practice ceases some steps must be taken to stop it.

WILLS TAKES OUT ALL WILDNESS OF FIRPO

SOME TOUGH FOOTBALL SCHEDULES

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Sept. 12.—Football players, stars of last year and the hopefulness of this year, are swarming the fields of every college in the country, getting ready for the most interesting season on record.

Since modern football has developed in every section of the country and since the game has become the ranking fall sport, intersectional games have become the most enjoyable feature of the schedule.

Last year was the banner year for intersectional games, but the 1924 season will go it better with 23 major intersectional games bringing together representative teams from east, south, north, middle and Pacific Coast.

Yale, the eastern champions of 1923, leads off with two interesting games against North Carolina and Georgia.

Harvard opens the season against Virginia.

Princeton plays one of the feature games of the season against Notre Dame.

Pennsylvania plays Virginia and Georgetown.

Penn State plays North Carolina State, Georgia Tech and Marietta, from the middle west.

Washington and Jefferson resumes relations with Detroit University.

The Army Cadets have four interesting games against St. Louis, Detroit, Notre Dame and Florida.

The Navy has one intersectional game with Marquette, representing the north.

West Virginia plays Centre and Washington and Lee.

Notre Dame meets Princeton, Carnegie Tech and the Army.

Chicago plays Missouri. Nebraska plays Colgate, and Minnesota plays Vanderbilt.

One of the best games of the season is reserved for the last—the University of California plays Pennsylvania on New Year's Day at Berkeley. It is a regular schedule game and has nothing to do with the annual Tournament of Roses game.

For willingness to assume the heaviest of burdens, Notre Dame wins the crown. The Indiana Catholics have always been willing in the past to crowd every big game they could get on the schedule, but this year they have assumed a tremendous load in scheduling in succession games with the Army, Princeton, Georgia Tech, Wisconsin and Nebraska.

Wisconsin, one of the big powers of the Western Conference and Nebraska, the lone conqueror of Notre Dame in the past two seasons, have arranged an open date before the game with the Hoosiers, but Notre Dame gets ready for the Wisconsin game by playing Georgia Tech and tunes up for the Nebraska game by playing Wisconsin.

AMERICAN AMATEUR GOLF TEAM LEADING

(By United Press)

Garden City Country Club, Garden City, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Starting off in most encouraging form, the American amateur golf team was leading the British team 3 to 0 at the end of the first 18 holes of play in the first matches for the Walker international cup here today. The Americans finished in the lead in three matches, and in the fourth, a two-ball foursome, finished even.

SPREADS OUT BROWN HANDS LIKE A FAN

GIVES FIRPO SEVERE BEATING IN TWELVE ROUNDS

NO DECISION IS PERMITTED BY BOXING LAW OF NEW JERSEY

(By United Press)

New York, Sept. 12.—With the big pair of brown hands that spread out in front of him like a fan and that pumped into action like an air hammer, Harry Wills, former stevedore, of New Orleans, took all the wildness out of Luis Angel Firpo in Jersey City last night and gave him a severe beating in twelve rounds.

No decision is permitted by the boxing law of New Jersey, but a decision never was so unnecessary. Not even the partisan followers of the South American champion who were among the $8,000 in Tex Rickard's arena felt that Firpo could win after he had been dropped in the second round with a long right to the jaw.

Wills completely frustrated the attacks of the South American, spreading his big hands into the arms of Firpo as they swung in at him and holding him powerless.

Whenever the right of the South American did penetrate the perfect guard and get to his body, it had no more effect than to produce a quiet New Orleans grin. There was no steam in the punches that had dropped Jack Dempsey twice and knocked him out of the ring once.

Fight By Rounds

Round One—They clinched. Inside Firpo hit a right to the head. They clinched, and Wills hit Firpo in kidneys with right three times. Firpo landed a light right to head but Harry kept hitting with right to body.

Firpo landed short right uppercut to body. Wills jabbed with left then went in close and beat Firpo to body. Firpo drove a hard right to the body. Wills grabbed him and hit him with a right to the body. Wills laughed as he went to his corner.

Round Two—Firpo threw a hard right to Wills' head and rushed in and landed three more. He hit him with another right but Wills grabbed him and hit him pitilessly in the kidneys with his right. Firpo drove a hard right to the body. Firpo missed right and as they got in close Wills shot over his right and dropped Firpo for count of three. When he got up Wills hit Firpo about the ring. Firpo looked to his corner for aid. Wills hit him and never stopped clubbing him with his right.

Round Three—Firpo rushed out and sent some punches at Harry's jaw but Harry dodged. They ran into two clinches. They clinched again and Wills hooked right to jaw. Firpo jabbed Wills twice with his left, then sent another one over. He hit Wills a right to body that made Wills wince. Wills clinched and clubbed Firpo with his right. Wills rushed in again and drove right to the ribs. There was another clinch and Wills sunk right to Firpo's body.

Firpo landed right hook to Wills' jaw. A second afterward he hit him with short right hook. Firpo let a right hand go and missed. It had so much power it would have knocked Wills down.

Round Four—They rushed into a clinch and Wills persisted in throwing his left trying to hit him with his right. Firpo landed his right to kidneys. Firpo hooked overhand right and they fell into a clinch. Wills hit him in clinches and was warned by referee. Firpo drove right to ribs, then brought it up to head. Wills hit Firpo on the button with a corking right and Firpo's knees sagged and he fell into a clinch. The blow weakened Firpo. Wills jabbed with left and brought right to the body. Wills brought short right to Firpo's chest which the South American did not relish. Just at bell Firpo missed a left hook and Harry tipped him lightly with a right.

Round Five—They rushed into a

MILL CITY SCHOOLS DRAW OUT FROM STATE TOURNAMENT

Minneapolis, Sept. 12.—Whether or not St. Paul high schools will break away from the state high school basketball tournament is a matter to be decided at a meeting of the athletic officials to be held.

The Minneapolis high schools have severed their connection as a result of the new system of districts which makes the St. Paul and Minneapolis winners into sectional tourneys and win before being eligible for the state tourney.

The seven faculty athletic managers of the Mill City schools Wednesday voted to pull out of the state tourney which is annually held at the Kenwood armory in Minneapolis.

For several years St. Paul and Minneapolis were in the same district and the Twin City winner would go to the meet. Then it was changed so that the winner in each city was eligible.

AMUSEMENTS

Latest Variety of Film Kisses by Director

There are movie kisses, moonlight kisses, parlor kisses, in fact all varieties of kisses. But did you ever hear of a director's kisses?

In "The Marriage Circle," which deals with marriage, there is plenty of kissing to be done by the principals—Florence Vidor, Marie Prevost, Monte Blue, Adolph Menjou, Harry Myers and Creighton Hale. Being a firm believer in imparting even the slightest gesture to the cast, Producer Ernest Lubitsch enlightened the members on how to perform the kissing spasm.

He held Blue's hands, showing Miss Prevost just how to put over the osculation. Bending gracefully, even for a director, Lubitsch kissed Monte's palm, and it is said that with this performance the director has lip-smacked his players at least 200 times. Monte of course has been kissed many times, but he says that Lubitsch has the foreign touch which makes the kiss entirely different—so directorially delicate.

The Unexpected in Chaplin Photodrama

It is the unexpected, unforeseen happenings in life that tend to make living interesting. In "A Woman of Paris," Charles Chaplin's drama of life, coming to the Lyceum Theatre Sunday, are the unexpected happenings of the photoplay, showing something new and different in the motion picture, creating new and added interest to this form of the public's entertainment and recreation.

In the first place it was unexpected that the justly famous Charles Chaplin should even temporarily desert his comedy roles for the production of the serious drama. Dance, Dance, Dance, Mae Murray Cries

"I think," declared Mae Murray, noted star whose picture, "The French Doll," will be shown at the New Park Theatre on Saturday and Sunday. "I think we owe it to ourselves not to let a day pass without getting slightly intoxicated."

"I don't mean on alcohol," she added. "There is nothing I detest more than seeing a person suffering from alcoholic intoxication. I think 'suffering' is the right word, because nothing appears more dismal to me than to see a person lose control of his proper senses."

Round Eleven—They clinched. Harry brought over his right. Firpo stuck light left into Wills face and Wills backhanded him as they came out of a clinch. Firpo led three different times with right and fell into a clinch. The last time Wills hit him in the spinal column. They clinched. Wills hit Firpo around the body. They clinched some more. They tugged each other around until they got into a clinch and Harry landed left to body.

Round Twelve—They shook hands. They immediately clinched. Firpo hanging on desperately. Wills was opening up trying frantically to put over a finishing blow. He continued his relentless body attack. Firpo was hanging on savagely. Wills missed a right but landed two successive rights to the head a moment later. Firpo landed his right straight to Wills' face but the negro continued to smile. They continued their clinching and wrestling tactics. Firpo getting the worst of the exchanges which followed. They clinched as the round ended.

WILLS TAKES OUT ALL WILDNESS OF FIRPO

SOME TOUGH FOOTBALL SCHEDULES

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Sept. 12.—Football players, stars of last year and the hopefulness of this year, are swarming the fields of every college in the country, getting ready for the most interesting season on record.

Since modern football has developed in every section of the country and since the game has become the ranking fall sport, intercollegiate games have become the most enjoyable feature of the schedule.

Last year was the banner year for intercollegiate games, but the 1924 season will go it better with 23 major intercollegiate games bringing together representative teams from east, south, north, middle and Pacific Coast.

Yale, the eastern champions of 1923, leads off with two interesting games against North Carolina and Georgia.

Harvard opens the season against Virginia.

Princeton plays one of the feature games of the season against Notre Dame.

Pennsylvania plays Virginia and Georgetown.

Penn State plays North Carolina State, Georgia Tech and Marietta, from the middle west.

Washington and Jefferson resumes relations with Detroit University.

The Army Cadets have four interesting games against St. Louis, Detroit, Notre Dame and Florida.

The Navy has one intercollegiate game with Marquette, representing the north.

West Virginia plays Centre and Washington and Lee.

Notre Dame meets Princeton, Carnegie Tech and the Army.

Chicago plays Missouri. Nebraska plays Colgate, and Minnesota plays Vanderbilt.

One of the best games of the season is reserved for the last—the University of California plays Pennsylvania on New Year's Day at Berkeley. It is a regular schedule game and has nothing to do with the annual Tournament of Roses game.

For willingness to assume the heaviest of burdens, Notre Dame wins the crown. The Indiana Catholics have always been willing in the past to crowd every big game they could get on the schedule, but this year they have assumed a tremendous load in scheduling in succession games with the Army, Princeton, Georgia Tech, Wisconsin and Nebraska. Wisconsin, one of the big powers of the Western Conference and Nebraska, the lone conqueror of Notre Dame in the past two seasons, have arranged an open date before the game with the Hoosiers, but Notre Dame gets ready for the Wisconsin game by playing Georgia Tech and tunes up for the Nebraska game by playing Wisconsin.

SPREADS OUT BROWN HANDS LIKE A FAN

GIVES FIRPO SEVERE BEATING IN TWELVE ROUNDS

NO DECISION IS PERMITTED BY BOXING LAW OF NEW JERSEY

(By United Press)
New York, Sept. 12.—With the big pair of brown hands that spread out in front of him like a fan and that pumped into action like an air hammer, Harry Wills, former stevedore, of New Orleans, took all the wildness out of Luis Angel Firpo in Jersey City last night and gave him a severe beating in twelve rounds.

No decision is permitted by the boxing law of New Jersey, but a decision never was so unnecessary. Not even the partisan followers of the South American champion who were among the 80,000 in Tex Rickard's arena felt that Firpo could win after he had been dropped in the second round with a long right to the jaw.

Wills completely frustrated the attacks of the South American, spreading his big hands into the arms of Firpo as they swung in at him and holding him powerless.

Whenever the right of the South American did penetrate the perfect guard and get to his body, it had no more effect than to produce a quiet New Orleans grin. There was no steam in the punches that had dropped Jack Dempsey twice and knocked him out of the ring once.

Fight By Rounds

Round One—They clinched. Inside Firpo hit a right to the head. They clinched, and Wills hit Firpo in the kidneys with right three times. Firpo landed a light right to head but Harry kept hitting with right to body. Firpo landed short right uppercut to body. Wills jabbed with left then went in close and beat Firpo to body. Firpo drove a hard right to the body. Wills grabbed him and hit him with a right to the body. Wills laughed as he went to his corner.

Round Two—Firpo threw a hard right to Wills' head and rushed in and landed three more. He hit him with another right but Wills grabbed him and hit him pitilessly in the kidneys with his right. Firpo drove a hard right to the body. Firpo missed right and as they got in close Wills shot over his right and dropped Firpo for count of three. When he got up Wills hit Firpo about the ring. Firpo looked to his corner for aid. Wills hit him and never stopped clubbing him with his right. Firpo landed two with his left. Wills hooked Firpo with a terrible left. Firpo landed two right overhand hooks at Wills' jaw as bell sounded.

Round Three—Firpo rushed out and sent some punches at Harry's jaw but Harry dodged. They ran into two clinches. They clinched again and Wills hooked right to jaw. Firpo jabbed Wills twice with his left, then sent another one over. He hit Wills a right to body that made Wills wince. Wills clinched and clubbed Firpo with his right. Wills rushed in again and drove right to the ribs. There was another clinch and Wills sunk right to Firpo's body. Firpo landed right hook to Wills' jaw. A second afterward he hit him with short right hook. Firpo let a right hand go and missed. It had so much power it would have knocked Wills down.

Round Four—They rushed into a clinch and Wills persisted in throwing his left trying to hit him with his right. Firpo landed his right to kidneys. Firpo hooked overhand right and they fell into a clinch. Wills hit him in clinches and was warned by referee. Firpo drove right to ribs, then brought it up to head. Wills hit Firpo on the button with a corking right and Firpo's knees sagged and he fell into a clinch. The blow weakened Firpo. Wills jabbed with left and brought right to the body. Wills brought short right to Firpo's chest which the South American did not relish. Just at bell Firpo missed a left hook and Harry tipped him lightly with a right.

clinch and Wills sneaked over a left to the body. He caught Firpo with a light left hook. Firpo came back with his left. Firpo threw light right to body and they clinched again. Clinches followed clinches. Firpo threw over two right overhands which hit Harry over the head. Firpo jabbed light left to Harry's face. They clinched. Harry clubbed him again with his right. Firpo hit Harry's ribs with right. As they clinched Harry continued pounding him on jaw with his right hand. Wills pounded away a few more times with right to kidneys and gent Firpo away weak at the end of the round.

Round Six—As usual they started off with a clinch. Wills wrestled Firpo around and sneaked over another right to kidneys. Firpo tried to land with his right and found it impossible. He managed to get over, however, and Wills grabbed him and turned him around as if he were a child. Wills reached Firpo and jabbed his left and right to the body. Firpo landed right hook to body and he retaliated with two rights to ribs. Firpo tried overhand right but missed. Wills hooked Firpo with rights that made Luis' eyes pop out of his head. Firpo hit a light left to the body and Wills just grabbed him and turned him around without any effort.

Round Eight—Wills started off by hitting Firpo on the shoulder with a left hook. The colored fellow had more confidence. He caught Firpo on jaw with right and Firpo came back with his right. Wills sent over a right that brushed Firpo's whiskers.

They clinched several times. Wills deliberately held and sunk a right to Firpo's body. Firpo swung at Wills' jaw with right but hit on the back. Wills kept moving around and Firpo tried to locate him. Wills sent left jab to Luis' mouth and drove two rights to body.

Round Nine—They came out, and rushed into a clinch. Wills persisted in clubbing Firpo with that right. There were a few more clinches and Firpo threw over his right and missed. He hit Wills with right to body which made Wills laugh. Wills jabbed off and boxed Firpo. He drove him with a left hook. Wills threw over a hard right hook, just missed the button by a fraction of an inch. Wills drove both hands to body in quick succession. In another flash he dropped his right on Firpo's chin which made the latter blink. Firpo whipped in short right uppercut at bell.

Round Ten—They brushed out to a clinch and Harry clubbed Firpo with his right, and the crowd hooted. Another clinch. Wills brought right to body, then to head. Harry sent Luis' head back with a right. As they faced each other Harry rushed in with a left and was right back with a left to the body. They continued clinching. Firpo threw all his power into his right but it landed on Wills' head. Wills landed three times on back of neck with his right.

Round Eleven—They clinched. Harry brought over his right. Firpo stuck light left into Wills face and Wills backhanded him as they came out of a clinch. Firpo led three different times with right and fell into a clinch. The last time Wills hit him in the spinal column. They clinched. Wills hit Firpo around the body. They clinched some more. They tugged each other around until they got into a clinch and Harry landed left to body.

Round Twelve—They shook hands. They immediately clinched. Firpo hanging on desperately. Wills was opening up trying frantically to put over a finishing blow. He continued his relentless body attack. Firpo was hanging on savagely. Wills missed a right but landed two successive rights to the head a moment later. Firpo landed his right straight to Wills' face but the negro continued to smile. They continued their clinching and wrestling tactics. Firpo getting the worst of the exchanges which followed. They clinched as the round ended.

MILL CITY SCHOOLS DRAW OUT FROM STATE TOURNAMENT

Minneapolis, Sept. 12.—Whether or not St. Paul high schools will break away from the state high school basketball tournament is a matter to be decided at a meeting of the athletic officials to be held.

The Minneapolis high schools have severed their connection as a result of the new system of districts which makes the St. Paul and Minneapolis winners into sectional tourneys and win before being eligible for the state tourney.

The seven faculty athletic managers of the Mill City schools Wednesday voted to pull out of the state tourney which is annually held at the Kenwood armory in Minneapolis.

For several years St. Paul and Minneapolis were in the same district and the Twin City winner would go to the meet. Then it was changed so that the winner in each city was eligible.

Latest Variety of Film Kisses by Director

There are movie kisses, moonlight kisses, parlor kisses, in fact all varieties of kisses. But did you ever hear of a director's kisses?

In "The Marriage Circle," which deals with marriage, there is plenty of kissing to be done by the principals—Florence Vidor, Marie Prevost, Monte Blue, Adolph Menjou, Harry Myers and Creighton Hale. Being a firm believer in imparting even the slightest gesture to the cast, Producer Ernest Lubitsch enlightened the members on how to perform the kissing spasm.

He held Blue's hands, showing Miss Prevost just how to put over the osculation. Bending gracefully, even for a director, Lubitsch kissed Monte's palm, and it is said that with this performance the director has lip-smacked his players at least 200 times. Monte of course has been kissed many times, but he says that Lubitsch has the foreign touch which makes the kiss entirely different—so directorially delicate.
